RADICAL CANDIDATE FOR THE CONVENTION. Charles Whittlesey has been nominated by a Radical Nominating Convention, as the Radical candidate for the State Convention from this city and county. His competitors were John Hawxhurst and Lewis McKenzie, and the choice was effected on the seventh ballotthe vote, then, standing, Whittlesey 18-Hawshurst 11-McKenzie 3. The nomination was made "unanimous," amid some con-

C. & O. CANAL. - Col. Spates, the General Superintendent of the Canal, has employed a working force of one hundred and fifty men, who are busily engaged raising Dam No. 1, to insure a supply of water to the Georgetown level of the Canal. Already the supply has been increased, and by the close of this week it is expected the dam will be raised high enough to afford a constant volume sufficient to float the heaviest boats, and keep all the mills in Georgetown running.

ROWDYISM. - It is said that the persons concerned in the late attempted pugilistic affair are to have a "fight" shortly at Hunter's Mill near the Four Mile run. Police be on the COUNTY COURT. -The October term of the County Court, for this county, commences on Monday next.

CORRECTION. -- In the report of the meeting of the First Ward Radical Club, held on Monday night, published in yesterday's Gazette, Charles Watson was erroneously reported as | "bound." During all this time the roll was having exhorted the members to vote for being called over and over on motions to ad-Hawkhurst. He advised them to vote for the best man, but named no one.

POLICE REPORT-MAYOR'S OFFICE. - Tisey Washington, a colored girl, was brought up for disorderly conduct, and annoying Mrs. Kingsley and family. This girl was complained of a short time ago, and was then arrested and discharged with an admonition. This time she was made to pay a fine and the costs.

Susan Banks, colored, was complained of by Nancy Clark, andit being proven that Susan had used very abusive and improper language towards Nancy, she was fined and discharged.
MAGISTRATES' OFFICES.—No criminal cases
at any of the Magistrates' Offices this morning.

WASHINGTON-ITEMS.—The Potomac- Ferry Company have sent out proposals for bids for two steamboats; one to be constructed with reference to the river trade, and the other for the I lan of the Staten Island boats, with a saloon on her upper deck, and every facility for the business for which she is to be used. These boats will be finished and placed on the river by the first of March next.

A new born infant, strangled to death, was found in an open lot yesterday.

Beau Hickman was arrested yesterday, charged with indecent exposure. "Beau" was taken before Justice Chapin, who fined him $5. He remonstrated against the payment, but it was of no avail, and he was obliged to pay, though he threatened to take an appeal. A Georgetown corporation law requires pota-toes to be sold by weight, and places the standard of a bushel at 60 pounds.

A GRAND BALL will come off to night at the Potomac Garden, for the benefit of the musicians employed there, at which time, Robert Stuart, one of the band, will perform some mesterly feats of dancing. A large attendance is anticipated.

[COMMUNICATED. RADICAL DETERMINATIONS, - Since the nomination of Charles Whittlesey, by the Convention, which met in Slouby's School House, ed to be great fear, a motion to adjourn was last evening, there have been numerous private put and carried, and so ended the "conven Guitars, Violins, &c., and musical instruments, caucuses and deliberations, in all of which it has been determined to enforce the Armstrong resolutions, adopted Friday, September 27th, requiring the nomination made by the Convention to be ratified by a majority of the Magis terial Districts, and thus vote down the nomination made by that Convention; also to adopt the proposition originally made by R. C. Armstrong, of appointing three commissioners in each Magisterial District, to take the vote of each association, by ballot, on Monday, October 7th, and cause it to be sent to a new Central Committee, to be chosen, consisting of three delegates from each district. It was determined in the private councils to move in the districts to discharge the present committees as soon as they shall report, with instructions to declare the candidate having the largest number of cotes, to be the candidate of the Radical Republican party. It has further been decided to have tickets printed for the parpose

A RADICAL NOMINATING CONVENTION.

[REPORTED FOR THE GAZETTE.] In a dingy building, dimly lighted; in a back yard, on a back street, assembled, list night, the delegates from the various radical ward clubs of this city, and from "Freedmen's Village," for the purpose of nominating a candidate of the party, to be voted for at a proposed election, to be neld on or about the 22d inst., for a seat in a proposed "State Constitutional Convention," (so-called) to a semble at some future day. The "Convention,"-that's what it was called-was composed of about thirty delegates, mostly colored, over whose deliberations a white man presided, assisted by a colored Secretary, who, in turn, was assisted by three white tellers. All the delegates took part in assisting in the discharge of the duties of the chair-and while all professed the most perfect willingness to abide by the decision of the aforesaid chair, on any mooted toints-and every conceivable point was mooted-yet no decision gave satisfaction; and each one was made the subject of severe criticism-to call it by no harsher term.

It was determined to open the proceedings with prayer, and accordingly a colored man named Miles was requested to pray, which he proceeded to do, evidently, however, forgetting the place; for he began by asserting vahemently that, "We have assembled for the purpose of worshipping Thee, O Lord!"-about as far from the intention of that gathering as anything possibly could be. After proceeding for a few minutes, he concluded by invoking the Divine favor upon the Radical party par ticularly, and upon all, in general, who had passed through the late fiery ordeal, and been 'baptised in blood and a shower of bullets' --the novelty of which expression caused a general titter, notwithstanding the desire on the part of the audience to be reverential.

The prayer having been concluded, the roll was called, and thirty-two delegates responded. The moment the Secretary concluded the call, several delegates sprang to their feet at once, and a scene of confusion commenced, which continued with but short intervals during the entire evening, and amidst which, motions to ballot; to adjourn; to refer back to the wards the whole matter; clear the house, &c., were piled upon one another so fast and furious, that the chairman declared it was impossible for him to decide which motion took precedence, each delegate contending that his should be first put to the Convention. A delegate from the Freedmen's Village asserted that he had never witnessed such proceedings in any civilized body in his life. R C. Arm-THE WEATHER within the last two days has strong ever and anon rose to a point of order, and himself ruled the whole proceedings out of order. A colored delegate declared that Armstrong was but a "bubble popping up and down." W. W. White insisted upon his motions, and half a dozen delegates declared that they were out of order. I. C. O'Neale and R. D. Beckley were urgent upon the maintenance of parliamentary usages. The "Freedmen's Village" asserted that they had a right to more delegates C. W. DeWitt persisted that Burnett and Malvin, from the Second Ward, had no right to seats in the body, and were brazen

Four or five other ballots were, at intervals, taken with a like result, the Hawxhurst men adhering tenaciously to their man, but McKenzie's friends evidently willing to yield, until finally on the seventh and last ballot, taken about 10 o'elock, Whittlesey received 18 votes; Hawxhurst 11; and McKenzic only 3, Armstrong, Beckley and Hoyett adhering to him, but his other friends headed by George Douglass going over to usurpers, to which Burnett sharply retorted .-

Previous to the sixth ballot L. Hill made a strong appeal for Whittlesey. He was followed by Beckley who urged McKenzie's claims. Several of Hawxhurst's friends spoke in his favor, and considered him the "Radical" man a ferry boat to run between Washington and of the party. Hill thought that the nomina-Alexandria. The ferry boat will be built on wings could not be healed with either of the leaders in nomination.

A motion to make the nomination unanimous was met with vociferous opposition from the Hawxhurst party, and a motion to give that individual three cheers was likewise strongly objected to. Both points were however carried, after which cheers were given for Hawxhurst and McKenzie.

Prior to the balloting, and after considerable ado, W. W. White succeeded in getting the following resolution through, C. W. DeWitt protesting against its passage: Resolved, That the President of the Republican Association be requested to call a meeting of the Republican voters of the city on the Sth day of October, 1867, at 8 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating officers for the city, to be supported at an election which may be ordered by General Schofield, and that the several ward clubs be requested to take the earliest possible steps to make the necessary
